

UK Department for International Development
Plant Sciences Research Programme

On-Farm Seed Priming

A key technology to improve the livelihoods of resource-poor farmers in marginal environments

Seeing is believing – the contrast is striking between the primed mungbean on the right and the non-primed crop on the left in this farmer's field in Pakistan's North-West Frontier Province.