About KOMPAN

Founded by a sculptural artist and a child development specialist, KOMPAN products are a blend of modern design and exceptional play value. By creating products that satisfy children's innate need for play, with aesthetics that appeal to those who purchase them, KOMPAN has become a world leader of manufactured play equipment.

Our designers understand that children have different abilities at every stage in their development. That's why KOMPAN is constantly developing new products and has the broadest portfolio of play equipment.

Our dedication to play value is demonstrated through the KOMPAN Play Institute (KPI), a network of international specialists focused on play environments for children. KPI integrates play trends and research on play and children's development into the design of innovative playgrounds - ensuring an optimal return on investment. KPI partners with researchers and other experts to initiate research projects. Our goal is to educate stakeholders in the planning of children's environments about play, health, learning and children's development. We facilitate our outreach program through symposiums, conference presentations, and articles.
