Before discussing more about commercial quail farming business, let me first explain 'what is quail farming?' Actually the term 'quail farming' means, raising quails commercially (like other poultry birds) for the purpose of profitable eggs and meat production. As far as we have experienced, quail farming business is very easy, lucrative and entertaining. It's very easy to maintain a quail farm, because quails are among the smallest species of poultry birds. The Japanese scientists first tamed the wild quails and revealed the ways to raise them as domestic birds. Commercial quail farming in Japan has spread tremendously. Now, people throughout the world performing quail farming business commercially for the purpose of meat and egg production. Quail farming is very profitable like other farming ventures, such as chicken, turkey or duck farming business. Almost all types of weather conditions are suitable for starting quail farming business. Meat and eggs of quail are very tasty and nutritious. Quail eggs are very nutritious than other poultry eggs. Because quail eggs contain comparatively more protein, phosphorus, iron, vitamin A, B1 and B2. Quail farming can play a vital role to meet up the demand of food and nutrition. Quail farming business require small capital and labor. Quails can be raised along with your other poultry birds for meat or eggs production.

Characteristics of Quail

Quails are very small sized bird.

An adult quail weights between 150 to 200 grams and an egg weights around 7 to 15 grams.

Female quails start laying eggs within their 6 to 7 weeks of age and continuously lay one egg daily.

They lay about 300 eggs in their first year of life. After that they produce about 150 to 175 eggs in second year. Eggs production gradually decrease after their first year of laying period.

Quail egg is very suitable for human health. It contains 2.47 % less fat than chicken egg. Many people believe that 'quail eggs help to prevent blood pressure, diabetic, pant etc'.

Quail meat is very tasty and nutritious. Fat is very low in their meat. So quail meat is very suitable for blood pressure patients.

Eggs are very beautiful with multiple color.

Quails do not incubate their eggs. So you have to use an incubator or brooder chickens for hatching their eggs.

Benefits of Quail Farming

Quails are smaller sized poultry birds, and it's very easy to handle them. The main benefits of starting quail farming business are listed below.

Quails are smaller sized bird, so they can be raised within small place.

Feeding cost of quails are comparatively lower than chickens or other poultry birds.

Diseases are less in quails, and they are very hardy.

Quails grow very fast and gain maturity faster than any other poultry birds.

They start laying eggs within their 6 to 7 weeks of age.

It takes about 16 to 18 days to hatch their eggs.

Meat and eggs of quail are very tasty, delicious and nutritious. So it's a great source of food and nutrition.

Quail farming needs small capital, and labor cost is very low.

Quails can be raised successfully in commercial method. Some people have already started commercial quail farming business.

Quails are very strong bird and diseases or other health problems are less. So risks are less in this business.

Quail meat contain less fat. So, it is suitable for high blood pressure patients.

Their food to meat or eggs converting efficiency is satisfactory. They can produce one kg meat or eggs by consuming three kg food.

You can raise 6 to 7 quails in the same place that is required for one chicken.

As the quail eggs are smaller in size, so the price is also lower than other bird's egg. As a result, all types of people can buy quail eggs and you can easily sell the eggs.

As the primary costs are less, so you can start this business with a very little investment.

You can raise about 6 to 8 quails within 0.91 squire meter area.

As it is a lucrative business venture, so commercial quail farming business can be a great source of income and employment for the unemployed educated people. Even, you can start raising a few quails along with your current profession.

Life Cycle of Quails

Quail generally survive for 3 to 4 years. An adult quail weights between 150 to 200 grams. Female quails start laying eggs from their 6 to 7 weeks of age. Each egg weights between 7 to 15 grams. They lay more than 300 eggs per year. Their eggs are very beautiful. Presence of light increase the egg productive efficiency of quails. They usually lay eggs at afternoon. It takes about 17 days to hatch their eggs. A newly born quail chick weights around 6 to 7 grams. Quail never incubate their eggs. For successful breeding purpose keep one male quail with every five female quails. Quail chicks become very sensitive and take about two weeks to be strong enough. Eggs of 9 to 11 grams weight with smooth and hard eggshell are perfect for hatching and producing chicks.

How to Start Quail Farming Business?

As quails are smaller sized poultry birds, so it's very easy to establish a quail farm. Make a proper quail farming business plan before starting. And work according to the plan. A proper business plan should include breeds, housing, feeding, care and marketing strategies. Here we are shortly describing every steps.

Select Quail Breeds

At present there are 18 species of quails are available, which are very suitable for profitable quail farming business. Some of these breeds are famous for egg production and some are popular for meat production. According to their production, quail breeds are of two types such as broilers and layers. Here we have stated some popular broiler and layer quail breeds.

Layer Quail Breeds

Tuxedo

Pharaoh

British Range

English White

Manchurian Golden

Broiler Quail Breeds

Bobwhite (American)

White Breasted (Indian)

Housing

Housing is very important for quail farming. Follow the instructions mentioned below while making house or cages for your quails.

Quail can be raised in both litter and cage systems. But quail farming in cage system is more suitable than raising them in deep litter system. In cage system, management is very easy and diseases or other problems are less.

Make a proper ventilation system and ensure proper flow of air and light inside their house.

You can raise 50 quails in a cage measuring 120 cm length, 60 cm wide and 25 cm height.

Use wire net for making their cages.

Measurement of the net would be 5 mm x 5 mm for adult quails.

Plastic cages are most convenient for quail farming business.

The house must have to be out of the reach of wild animals. Also prevent all types of predators.

Feeding

For keeping your quails healthy, proper growing and highly productive, provide them balanced feed regularly. An adult quail consumes about 20 to 25 grams of food daily. Chick feed should contain 27% and adult feed 22-24% of protein. A chart of balanced feed for quails is shown below.

Ingredients	Age
	0-3 Weeks	4-5 Weeks	Adult
Broken Wheat	48	50	50
Sesame Cake	23	22	22
Kipper Fish	20	16	14
Rice Bran	6	8	9
Broken Oyster shell	2.25	3.25	4.25
Salt	0.50	0.50	0.50
Mineral Mix	0.25	0.25	0.25
Total (Percentage)	100	100	100

Egg Production

Presence of adequate light is highly recommended for desired egg production from your quails. You can provide artificial light and heat by using electric bulb or heater. You can use 40 to 100 watt bulb for this purpose. Demand of light and heat varies depending on the season. If you want successful breeding and want to hatch their eggs, then keep one male with every five female quails. For getting better egg production, select highly productive breeds and always keep their house dry and clean. Egg production also depends on temperature, feeding, water, care and management.

To get desired egg production from your quails, light play a vital role. Lightening period of laying quails is shown below through a chart.

Age	Temperature (o Celsius)	Light (Hour)

1 Week	35	24
2 Week	30	24
3 Week	25	12
4 Week	21-22	12
5 Week	21	12
6 Week	21	13
7 Week	21	14
8 Week	21	15
9 Week	21	16
Other Time	21	16

Raising Quail Chicks

Quails never incubate their eggs. So, you can produce chicks by hatching their eggs through chickens or artificially through using incubators. Incubation period for quail egg is about 16 to 18 days. For maximum egg production, 16 hours of lighting period is required daily inside the quail house. Keep newly born quail chicks in a brooder house. Chicks need artificial heat and temperature management system for 14 to 21 days from their birth. Quail chick become very sensitive. They can be raised in both litter and battery system. Keep in mind the following factors while raising quail chicks.

- Adequate temperature
- Sufficient light
- Proper air movement
- Density of quail chicks
- Supply of food and water
- Hygienic rearing rules

Provide the layer quail chick heat and light according to their age. Follow the chart shown below.

--	--	--

Baby Age	Temperature (o Celsius)	Light (Hour)
1 Week	37.7	24
2 Week	35	24
3 Week	32.2	12

Diseases

Diseases are less in quails, compared to other poultry birds. But you have to take good care and manage them properly, to keep them free from all types of diseases or illness. Good care and management is a must for profitable quail farming business. Generally they are not provided any disease preventive vaccines. Quail chicks can't tolerate weather change, and sudden temperature change. So they get affected by disease, if they experience sudden temperature or weather changes. Be very careful during this period. Following diseases are very harmful for the quails.

Coccidiosis: If the quails get affected by coccidiosis disease, serve them coaxial 20 by mixing with water (two grams per litter) for three days. Otherwise feed this according to the advice of a veterinarian.

Ulcerative Enteritis: Mix one gram streptomycin with one litter water and serve it to the quails for three days. This will stop ulcerative enteritis disease.

Hygienic Quail Farming Tips

To keep your quails healthy and productive, follow the hygienic quail farming method which are mentioned below.

Always try to keep their house dry and clean.

Ensure proper movement of light and air inside their house.

Keep different aged quails separated from each other.

Separate the disease affected quails from the healthy one.

Burn the dead bird or put under soil.

Don't allow other birds, animals or unknown persons enter inside your farm quail house.

Ensure hygienic and balanced feed supply.

Provide adequate fresh and clean water according to their demand.

Marketing

Quail meat and eggs are very tasty and highly enriched with nutrient elements. So there is already an established market for quail products. As quail birds and their eggs are small in size, so it is cheap in price and all types of people can purchase. So you don't have to worry much about marketing your products. You can easily sell the eggs and meat in your local market. But it will be better if you determine your marketing strategies before starting this business. Because all places around the world have not the same marketing facilities.

In a word, quail farming is playing an important role for fulfilling the daily family nutrition demands and earning livings. And commercial quail farming can be a great source of employment, and earning some extra income along with your current job or profession. Quail farming is also very entertaining and it is very easy to raise some quails. If you intend to join this business venture, then try to visit some farms in your area. And finally do it. God bless you!

How profitable is quail farming in Nigeria.

Reply

 RoysFarm June 4, 2013 at 10:23 AM

Investment in quail farming business depends on many factors. And it is really very difficult to tell the exact cost. But you can compare it with chickens. In the place of one chicken you can easily raise 4-5 quails. And food or other costs is also less than chickens. This cost also depends on your location. Starting quail farming business investment may varies from place to place.

Reply

 RoysFarm June 4, 2013 at 10:25 AM

Various types of quail breeds are available and suitable for rearing throughout the whole world. I think it would be very profitable in Nigeria, like chickens.

Reply

RoysFarm July 5, 2013 at 4:38 AM

Yes, that's right. Quail never incubate their eggs. You have to use electric or diesel incubators. You can also use chickens, ducks for this purpose. Thank you & have a nice day!

I am a beginner in quail farming in Kenya and I am concerned about the feeds quality from the manufacturers around. Can I use supplements if I am not comfortable or if I doubt the feed contents. And if so, which ones.

Reply

RoysFarm July 11, 2013 at 2:46 AM

How do you test the quality of feeds? If you can't find a trusted and reputable feeds supplier or manufactures around you, then you can buy each feed ingredients from the market separately. And mix it at home according to the amount of necessary nutrient elements in the feeds. Never forget to add all types of vitamins, minerals or other elements which are essential for proper growth of Quails. See the feeding chart again. Thanks!

CHARLES CHIPONDA July 12, 2013 at 8:43 AM

How can one distinguish a female quail from a male quail?

Reply

RoysFarm July 12, 2013 at 1:25 PM

You can easily distinguish a female quail from males through the following steps.

First of all look at the size of the quails. Commonly, female quails weight slightly more than the males.

Male quail is much more brightly colored than the females. So, look at the coloring of the quail's feathers.

The face of male quail will have bolder, more defined patterns than the females (it seems the male quail is wearing a mask). But the female quail will be the same color all over.

You can also distinguish male and female quails by listening their crow. The female chirps but does not crow. On the other hand, males have a characteristic crow best described as a clicking castanet. Males will crow through the night during mating season to attract the female.

Reply

 Karani September 30, 2013 at 8:11 AM

I have acquired some wild quails, but some people say that because of change of their natural environment, they refuse to lay eggs. What should one do to make them lay eggs. From their looks, they are healthy and fine. Is there a supplement or anything that can change this state of affairs?

Reply

 RoysFarm September 30, 2013 at 9:54 AM

You can easily keep quails and chickens together. Just make a separate cage for your quails and keep the chickens on the floor.

Reply

RoysFarm September 30, 2013 at 10:08 AM

I have no experience about wild quails. For egg production you can buy domestic, farm quails that are available for laying eggs. I will discuss this matter and mail you if I find any supplements or anything else that can change this situation. Thanks!

Thanks for the great information and your willingness to help others may you be blessed for that, am from Nairobi and would like to start quail farming, where can i get the kws licence.

Reply

RoysFarm October 21, 2013 at 4:23 AM

You need to make an application for a quail farming permit from the Kenya Wildlife Services. This application is made to the Director KWS through the nearest KWS regional office. The regional office will be located at the County level comprising the County Wildlife Conservation Committee. This office will issue you with a form to fill the required details. Once the form has been filled satisfactorily and all the details are in place, the office sends a team of inspectors to your farm to verify the facts as filled in the form and to establish that you meet the requirements for the enterprise. If they are satisfied, the form is forwarded to KWS headquarters in Nairobi for approval by the director. Once approved, a licensing officer, usually a senior warden from the nearest KWS office will issue you with a license to practice game farming upon payment of Kshs 1000 to 2000 depending on the business. The license expires annually and must be renewed.

The procedures of starting quail farming business are already listed above. Quail farming is still not too popular like chickens. So you may not find quail products easily in your country. You can search your local market. And for your kind information, our farm is located in Bangladesh. Thank you!

Reply

RoysFarm November 18, 2013 at 8:38 AM

Visit some of your nearest local market and try to understand the demand of quail products. If quail products are not popular enough in your local market, then try your nearest town. You can also inform the people in your area about the benefits of consuming quail eggs and meat. Quail farming is still in a primary stage. You will be able to easily market your products when the general people will be conscious about consuming the quail products. Thank you!

Reply

 RoysFarm November 21, 2013 at 6:34 AM

You don't have to have any high-end technical knowledge for starting commercial quail farming business. Just read a more about quail farming, visit some farms, purchases cages or make a good house for your birds, purchase fresh chicks and start feeding & taking care of them. After a few weeks you will notice your birds are laying colorful fresh eggs. That's it. Quiet simple. Good luck & thank you!

Dear Roysfarm,

I started quail farming, managed to successfully hatch a few chicks by use of an incubator, unfortunately all of them died, i did not understand why since i provided the warmth, water, chick mash all those stuff required

I would like to continue the exercise but scared of the going through the same experience, could you kindly advice what could have caused the death so that i know what measures to observe next time? kindly send to my email add

best regards

Reply

RoysFarm November 26, 2013 at 6:00 AM

It's really a frustrating result, when you have done everything perfectly. We have consulted with some experienced breeders here about this result. They are suggesting that, 'such result may happen due to sudden temperature change'. Although we are not sure what's the exact problem. Have you consulted with any of your local breeders? Try to discuss this result with any of your local breeders who have successfully hatched quail eggs previously. Be very careful about temperature management next time. God bless you!

Hello Roysfarm,

This is an incredible work of education that you are doing.May God greatly bless and reward you,

I would like to tto quail farming as a business starting from January 2014.

Please direct me to a farm/farmer near me where I can visit and get more information on

1. Building the cages
- 2.Getting the chicks(about 100 2 weeks old)
3. Getting licences
4. Network for marketing purpose.

I would eventually want to purchase an incubator so that I can hatch,sell and rare quail chicks.

I live in Ruiru, about 20kms from Nairobi town.

Best regards,

Wanjiru
